

CONGRESS ACTS ON FARM RELIEF

Emergency Law as Embargo to Be Formulated by Senators Today

MANY FARMERS BROKE

Producers of Wool and Wheat Especially Hard Hit by Dropping Prices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Members of the senate finance and the house ways and means committee will meet in joint conference tomorrow to formulate an emergency program of tariff exchange to act as an embargo and give relief to the farmers from the decline in prices.

Decision to hold the conference was reached late today by republican members of the committees, who agreed that speedy action was necessary. They determined also to make the program non-political if the minority members would cooperate.

Many "High and Dry."

Primary consideration will be given on the program to import duties of wheat and wool, the producers of which Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee said were now "practically broke" as the result of falling prices. The portion of the program relating to the tariff was declared, however, to be more comprehensive and to include consideration of protective levies on scores of other commodities. Possibility of the conference deciding to wipe out the free list of the Underwood tariff act was declared to be within range of action.

Re-enactment of portions of the Dingley tariff also was being talked of among the more ardent high tariff supporters. Mr. Fordney, however, said he was in favor of rushing through the emergency protection for wheat and wool and a few other commodities and letting other tariff matters go over for hearings and further consideration. Clamor for relief legislation of a tariff nature with duties as high as would serve practically as an embargo, may be too strong a life to be halted, conservative supporters of the program contended.

Agriculturists Banded.

One of the forces in the house seeking relief for the farmers solidified itself today into a compact body, which, its leaders declared, will be continued as a congressional organization. Republican and democratic members from agricultural districts began consideration of a definite policy for dealing with pending relief legislation, and a report will be prepared by a special committee for presentation to the full conference next Monday.

The house banking and currency committee voted to report favorably the senate resolution directing revival of the war finance corporation to assist in financing the exportation of agricultural and other products. The house committee struck out the clause declaring it the opinion of congress that the federal reserve board take action to permit its member banks to grant liberal extensions of credit to farmers.

No Wonder.

Those weary-looking, furtive-eyed persons you see slinking through back streets are the men who have tried to figure out the "dope" in the football season.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—"Blue Sunday" was burlesqued on Broadway and Fifth avenue today in a mournful parade sponsored by the International Sporting club, of which many society folk are members. Horses harnessed with crepe slowly pulled five floats in which Puritan characters anticipated life under the proposed "blue laws."

Bandmen plodded their weary way at the head of the procession playing "Gee, But This is a Lonesome Town" and funeral dirges.
